The great soldier of America and the age has passed from among us though long expected, the sad event comes to every American and more especially to his former comrades in arms, with the force of a personal bereavement while those against whom his soldierly prowess was directed in war will not forget that in the memory of their deeds he remembered the ties of fraternity and the dictates of humanity and patriotism and will mingle their tears with ours over the grave of the eminent soldier and first citizen of the Republic. In token of the nation's grief the National flag will be placed at half mast over the Executive building till the close of the day of the funeral and all citizens are requested to droop in mourning their respective places of business.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

BY THE GOVERNOR.

From the earliest ages of mankind it has been customary for civilized peoples to gather together to unite in thanksgiving for blessings enjoyed, to gather around and rebuild the house-hold altars—to renew and strengthen the ties of family and of friendship, and to join in those social festivities peculiar to rational beings, and strengthen the cords which bind society together and make life worth living.

In accordance with that beautiful and memorable custom, and following the example of his Excellency, the President of the United States, it is recommended that Thursday, the 26th day of November, instant, be set apart and observed by all the people of New Mexico as a day of social enjoyment, and of thankfulness for all the blessings that have been vouchsafed them during the past year—for the glorious sunshine that has made existence a luxury—for the bountiful rains that have wrought abundance in their fields—for the ~~great~~ increase in their herds and flocks—for the resplendant richness of their mines—and for general and continuing health throughout their land. Let secular employment be discontinued, and prayer and praise, music and mirth, feasting and dancing, characterize the day, expressive of gratitude for the benefactions of the past, the joy of the present, the hopefulness for the future.

Done at the executive office in ^{the} city of Santa Fe, this 6th day of November, A. D. 1885.

Feb. 13. Respite of E. Leon DuBois.

Executive Office, Territory of New Mexico
Santa Fe, N. M. Feb. 13. 1886

Whereas, E. Leon DuBois of Valencia County, Territory of New Mexico, was, at the May 1885 term of the District Court for the Second Judicial District - held at Albuquerque, in Bernalillo County - convicted & sentenced to imprisonment for the term of two years in the Illinois State Penitentiary at Chester, Illinois - for the crime of making a false certificate of election at the election for Delegate in Congress for the said Territory, held in Precinct Number Eleven, Valencia County aforesaid on the seventh day of November A.D. 1882. - and

Whereas, petitions for respite of the said DuBois, pending an application for pardon by the President of the United States have been presented to me, signed by a majority of the jury before whom the said DuBois was convicted - by the members of the United States Grand Jury for the United States Court now in session at the Capital of the Territory of New Mexico & by a large number of respectable citizens of the said Territory - and

Whereas it is represented to me that evidence of a conspiracy to shield the actual criminals in the perpetration of the said crime of false certification & to wrongfully inflict the punishment of the said crime upon the said DuBois is shown in the fact that, prior to the trial of the said DuBois therefor, indictments which had theretofore been found against all the judges and clerks of said election sitting as such on the ^{day} & date & purpose aforesaid were all nolle prosequed by the United States Attorney for the Territory appointed subsequently to the bringing in of said indictments & that a new indictment was thereupon brought in against the said DuBois alone, for the said crime of false certification - and it is further represented to me that he, the said DuBois, in the said trial & sentence was thus sought to be made the sole sufferer for crimes committed by others, he being merely a precinct clerk, whose duties were subordinate & ministerial while the two judges of the said election & the remaining clerk were thus exempted from prosecution for the said offense which offense could not have been consummated without the participation direction & consent control of the two judges & clerk aforesaid — and Whereas, it is represented to me in writing by two reputable physicians now in attendance upon the said Du Bois, that he, the said Du Bois is in such physical condition from illness & from the disability of age as to render a journey to the point at which he is sentenced to confinement at this time seriously prejudicial to his recovery —

Now, Therefore, by virtue of the authority of the provisions of Section 1841 of the Revised Statutes of the United States & the Organic Act of the Territory of New Mexico to "grant respites for offenses against the laws of the United States till the decision of the President can be made known thereon" & to the end that the said Du Bois may have opportunity before his incarceration to establish to the President the aforementioned allegations in his behalf, I hereby respite the said E. Leon Du Bois & temporarily suspend the execution of his said sentence until the decision of the President can be made known thereon.

physical condition, to such a degree as to threaten total mental & physical prostration under prolonged confinement.

Proclamation.

It having been communicated to me, in writing, by the Cattle Sanitary Board of New Mexico that a certain fatal contagious and infectious disease, commonly known as pleuro-pneumonia, exists and has become epidemic among bovine cattle in the States of New York, New Jersey and Illinois, and in the foreign Countries of Scotland, England and the Dominion of Canada, and that such conditions exist as to render such disease liable to be communicated to cattle in the Territory of New Mexico through the importation of cattle from such States and foreign Countries, and particularly through the General Stockyards located in the City of Chicago, in the State of Illinois, and in the City of Kansas City in the State of Missouri; also that cattle have been known to have been exposed to said contagious disease and infection therewith without exhibiting any symptoms thereof for a period of six months from and after such exposure. Therefore, I, Edmund T. Ross, Foreman of the Territory of New Mexico, under and by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by law, do hereby forbid the shipment and the importation into said Territory in any manner whatever of all bovine cattle from ~~within~~

First:

All bovine cattle coming from either of the above named States and foreign countries, or through either of the aforesaid cities of Chicago and Kansas City, being permitted to enter said Territory must be accompanied by reliable documentary evidence under oath to the satisfaction of the Inspector inspecting the same that they and each and all of them have been outside of each of the above named States and foreign countries, and have not been unloaded or been in either of the stockyards in either of the aforesaid cities of Chicago and Kansas City, at any time within six months immediately preceding their arrival at the boundary line of said Territory, and that during all that time they or any of them have shown no symptoms of such disease; and in addition thereto the Inspector inspecting the same must be satisfied from a clinical inspection that none of them at the time of inspection show any symptoms of such disease.

Second:

For the present, and until otherwise provided, all bovine cattle coming from either of the above named States and foreign countries, or have been in either of the stockyards in either of the aforesaid cities of Chicago and Kansas City will be permitted to enter said Territory after inspection only by the way of Raton, in said Territory.

Third:

Fifth:

In addition to the foregoing conditions, the Inspector of any Cattle under this proclamation may require the importer to furnish satisfactory documentary evidence under oath showing each and all the places where the Cattle have been during the six months preceding the inspection; and if the Inspector shall have good reason to believe or suspect that any of the material proofs offered by the importer are unreliable or insupportable, he may refuse a permit for the entry of the Cattle until such Reasonable time as may be necessary for him to ascertain the truth.

Sixth:

When the Inspector grants a permit for the entry of Cattle under this proclamation, the same shall be in writing, and accompany the Cattle to their destination, and while the Cattle are in transit into or through the Territory, the owner or person in charge shall produce such permit on demand to any other Inspector, or to any other person whose interests may be affected by the importation of diseased Cattle;

Provided, there shall be no detention of the Cattle in transit after producing the proper permit. Any refusal or neglect to so produce a permit shall render the Cattle liable to inspection or to be again inspected at the cost of the owner.

Cattle Quarantine Proclamation by Governor

Executive Office, Territory of New Mexico

Santa Fe, August 16, 1887

It having been communicated to me in writing by the Cattle
Sanitary Board of New Mexico, and from the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, that a certain fatal, contagious and infectious disease, commonly known as pleuro-pneumonia, exists and has become epidemic among bovine cattle in the States of New York, New Jersey, Maryland, The District of Columbia, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and Illinois and in the foreign countries of England, Scotland and the Dominion of Canada, and that such conditions exist as to render such disease liable to be communicated to the cattle in the Territory of New Mexico through the importation of the same from such States and foreign countries, and particularly through the general stock yards located in the city of Chicago, in the State of Illinois and the city of Kansas City, in the State of Missouri, also, that cattle have been known to have ^{been} exposed to said contagious disease and infected therewith without exhibiting any symptoms thereof for a period of six months from and after such exposure.

Therefore, I, Edmund S. Ross, Governor of the Territory of New Mexico, under and by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by law, do hereby forbid the shipment and importation into said Territory in any manner whatever of all bovine cattle from either of the above named States and foreign countries, or through the aforesaid stock yards or either of them except upon the com-

and restrictions as follows, to wit:

First, All bovine cattle coming from either of the above named States and foreign countries, or through either of the aforesaid stockyards, before being permitted to enter said Territory must be accompanied by reliable documentary evidence, under oath, to the satisfaction of the inspector inspecting the same, that they and each and all of them have been outside of each of the above named States and foreign countries and have not been unloaded or been in either of the stockyards aforesaid at any time within six months immediately preceding their arrival at the boundary line of said Territory, and that during all that time they or any of them have shown no symptoms of such disease; and in addition thereto, the inspector inspecting the same must be satisfied from actual inspection that none of them at the time of inspection show any sign of such disease.

Second, For the present, and until otherwise provided, all bovine cattle coming from either of the above mentioned States and foreign countries or that have been in either of the aforesaid stockyards, will be permitted to enter said Territory after inspection and permit granted only by way of Raton, in said Territory, or via El Paso, Texas.

Third, All bovine cattle hereafter destined for transportation into or through New Mexico, and to cross the north or east boundary line thereof, are subject to inspection as hereinafter provided for the purpose of determining whether they or any of them are, or are not, from either of the said States or foreign countries or have, or have not, been in either of the aforesaid stockyards, within six months prior to such inspection, as well as to determine whether any other of the conditions and terms of this proclamation have been violated or attempted to be violated. Such inspection to be made by such inspectors as the Cattle Sanitary Board shall appoint for that purpose and to be made under such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with this proclamation, as such board shall prescribe.

Fourth, If upon such inspection and proof, it shall be ascertained that any of the cattle so inspected can be driven and imported into said Territory without violating any of the terms and conditions of this proclamation, or any of the provisions of the law of said Territory applicable thereto, then the same may be admitted into said Territory; otherwise said admission is hereby prohibited.

Fifth, In addition to the foregoing conditions, the inspectors of any cattle under this proclamation may require the importer to furnish satisfactory documentary evidence under oath showing each and all the places where the cattle have been during the six months preceding the inspection; and if the inspector shall have good reasons to believe or suspect that any of the material proofs offered by the importer are unreliable or insufficient; he may refuse a permit for the entry of the cattle until such reasonable time as may be necessary for him to ascertain the truth. Sixth, When the inspector grants a permit for the entry of cattle under this proclamation, the same shall be in writing and accompany the cattle to their destination. And while the Cattle are in transit into or through the Territory, the owner, or person in charge, shall produce such permit on demand to any other inspector or to any other person whose interest may be affected by the importation of diseased cattle; Provided there shall be no detention of the cattle in transit after producing the proper permit. Any refusal or neglect to so produce a permit on demand, shall render the cattle liable to inspection or to be again inspected at the cost of the owner.

Seventh, In all cases where the importer gives notice to the inspector to have his cattle inspected under this proclamation, before crossing the boundary line of the Territory, or voluntarily submits to such inspection before crossing such line, and does not violate any of the terms and conditions of this proclamation, there shall be no charge for inspection. But, in the case of the transportation of cattle into the Territory in violation of this proclamation, or any of the conditions thereof, then the cost of inspection, also of seizure and quarantine of the cattle, will be borne by the importer under the provisions of the quarantine law of the Territory; also his liabilities for damages and penalties, as well as liens on the cattle under that law will attach.

Eighth, All quarantine proclamations heretofore issued by me are hereby abrogated.

Ninth, This proclamation shall take effect and be in force immediately.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my official hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the Territory of New Mexico, the sixteenth day of August 1887.

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Santa Fe, November 10, 1887.

During the year that is now closing, the people of New Mexico have been abundantly blessed—in the fruits of the field, the mine and the vineyard, and in the increase of their flocks and their herds. They have been exempted from disastrous visitation of plague or the elements, and good health throughout their borders has enabled them to pursue uninterruptedly and with pleasure and profit, their several vocations.

Mindful of these manifold and continued favors, and in deference to an honorable and honored custom, I, Edmund G. Ross, Governor of the Territory of New Mexico, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-fourth day of November, instant, as a day of thanksgiving, praise and prayer—thanksgiving and praise for the exceptional blessings enjoyed, and prayer for their continuance, and in behalf of all upon whom these blessings have fallen in a lesser degree. Let charitable remembrance of the poor and the lowly characterize the day; let the sun of that day not go down upon any man's wrath, that the remembrance of good deeds done, of offenses forgiven, and of friendships restored, may fittingly mark its close.

By the Governor:

EDMUND G. ROSS.

RECORDED

Quarantine Proclamation

EXECUTIVE OFFICE,
Territory of New Mexico,
Santa Fe, March 16, 1888.

It having been communicated to me in writing by the Cattle Sanitary Board of New Mexico, and by the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, that a certain fatal, contagious and infectious disease, commonly known as pleuro-pneumonia, exists and has become epidemic among bovine cattle in the following localities, viz: The states of New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Cook County in the State of Illinois and the foreign countries of England, Scotland and the Dominion of Canada, and that such conditions exist as to render such disease liable to be communicated to the cattle in the Territory of New Mexico through the importation of the same from such localities and particularly through the general stockyards located in the city of Chicago in said Cook county; also that cattle have been known to have been exposed to said contagious disease and infected therewith without exhibiting any symptoms thereof for a period of six months from and after such exposure.

Therefore, I, Geo. W. Lane, Secretary, acting as Governor of the Territory of New Mexico, under and by virtue of the power and authority vested in me by law, do hereby forbid the shipment and importation into said Territory in any manner whatever of all bovine cattle from either of the above localities or through the aforesaid stockyards, or either of them, except upon the conditions and restrictions as follows, to-wit:

First, All bovine cattle coming from either of the above named localities, or through either of the aforesaid stockyards, before being permitted to enter said Territory, must be accompanied by reliable documentary evidence under oath, to the satisfaction of the inspector inspecting the same, that they and each and all of them have been outside of each and all of the above named localities, and have not been unloaded or been in either of the stockyards aforesaid at any time within six months immediately preceding their arrival at the boundary line of said Territory, and that during all that time, they or any of them have shown no symptoms of such disease; and in addition thereto, the inspector inspecting the same must be satisfied from actual inspection that none of them at the time of inspection show any sign of such disease.

Second, For the present and until otherwise provided, all bovine cattle coming from either of the above mentioned localities, or that have been in either of the aforesaid stockyards, will be permitted to enter said Territory after inspection and permit granted only by the way of Raton, in said Territory, or via El Paso, Texas.

Third, All bovine cattle hereafter destined for transportation into or through New Mexico, and to cross the north or east boundary line thereof, are subject to inspection as hereinafter provided for the purpose of determining whether they or any of them are, or are not, from either of the said localities or have, or have not, been in either of the aforesaid stockyards within six months prior to such inspection as well as to determine whether any other of the conditions and terms of this proclamation have been violated or attempted to be violated. Such inspection to be made by such inspectors as the Cattle Sanitary Board shall appoint for that purpose and to be made under such rules and regulations, not inconsistent with this proclamation, as such board shall prescribe.

Fourth, If upon such inspection and proof, it shall be ascertained that any of the cattle so inspected can be driven and imported into said Territory without violating any of the terms and conditions of this proclamation, or any of the provisions of the law of said Territory, applicable thereto, then the same may be admitted into said Territory; otherwise said admission is hereby prohibited.

Fifth, In addition to the foregoing conditions, the inspector of any cattle under this proclamation may require the importer to furnish satisfactory documentary evidence under oath showing each and all the places where the cattle have been during the six months preceding the inspection; and if the inspector shall have good reasons to believe or suspect that any of the material proofs offered by the importer are unreliable or insufficient, he may refuse a permit for the entry of the cattle until such reasonable time as may be necessary for him to ascertain the truth.

Sixth, When the inspector grants a permit for the entry of cattle under this proclamation, the same shall be in writing and accompany the cattle to their destination. And while the cattle are in transit into or through the Territory, the owner, or person in charge, shall produce such permit on demand to any other inspector or to any other person whose interest may be affected by the importation of diseased cattle; Provided, there shall be no detention of the cattle in transit after producing the proper permit. Any refusal or neglect to so produce a permit on demand, shall render the cattle liable to inspection or to be again inspected at the cost of the owner.

Seventh, In all cases where the importer gives notice to the inspector to have his cattle inspected under this proclamation, before crossing the boundary line of the Territory, or voluntarily submits to such inspection before crossing such line, and does not violate any of the terms and conditions of this proclamation, there will be no charge for inspection. But in the case of the transportation of cattle into the Territory in violation of this proclamation, or any of the conditions thereof, then the costs of inspection, also of seizure and quarantining of the cattle, will be borne by the importer under the provisions of the quarantine law of the Territory; also his liabilities for damages and penalties, as well as liens on the cattle under that law will attach.

Eighth, The terms and conditions of this proclamation however, shall not be taken and construed to prevent any railroad company from transporting any cattle from either of the aforesaid localities or stockyards entirely through or beyond the limits of this Territory by rail at any time. Provided, such cattle which shall not have been outside of such localities and stockyards for the period of six months prior to entering the Territory shall not be unloaded while in transit through the Territory except into secure quarantine stockyards provided by such company and used exclusively for that purpose. And provided further, that during such transit through the Territory, while this proclamation continues in force, such cattle shall be so securely confined that none of them shall get loose either from the cars or such stockyards and go upon the ground outside thereof.

Ninth, All quarantine proclamations heretofore issued by the Governor of this Territory are hereby annulled.

Tenth, This proclamation shall take effect and be in force immediately.

In Testimony Whereof, I have here unto set my official hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the Territory of New Mexico the 16th day of March A. D. 1888.

Secretary, acting as Governor Territory of New
